

Surviving New York Railroad Stations

Accord: The passenger station originally built by the New York, Ontario & Western Railway here still stands.

Addison: The freight railroad station originally built by the Erie Railroad here still stands, used as a business.

Afton: The passenger station originally built by the Delaware & Hudson Railway here still stands, used as a business.

Albany: The passenger station originally built by the New York Central here still stands.

Albany Bush: The passenger station originally built by the Fonda, Johnstown & Gloversville Railroad here still stands.

Albion: The freight station originally built by the New York Central Railroad here still stands, vacant. Also, the passenger depot built by the Buffalo, Lockport & Rochester Railway here remains, privately owned.

Alden: The passenger railroad station originally built by the Erie Railroad here still stands, used as a business.

Altmar: The passenger station originally built by the New York Central here still stands, privately owned.

Andes: The passenger station originally built by the Delaware & Northern Railroad here still stands.

Angelica: The passenger station originally built by the Pittsburg, Shawmut & Northern Railroad here still stands, used as a business.

Angola: The passenger railroad station originally built by the Nickel Plate Road here still stands, vacant.

Apalachin: The passenger station originally built by the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad here still stands, used as a business.

Apulia Station: The passenger station originally built by the DL&W here still stands, used as a business.

Arcade: The passenger stations originally built by the Arcade & Attica Railroad, Tonawanda Valley & Cuba Railroad, and Buffalo & Susquehanna Railroad all still stand.

Arden: The passenger railroad station originally built by the Erie here still stands.

Ardsley-on-Hudson: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used by Metro-North.

Arkville: The freight station originally built by the D&N here still stands, used as a business. Also, the freight depot built by the Ulster & Delaware Railroad here remains.

Ashokan: The passenger station originally built by the U&D here still stands, used as a business.

Ashville: The passenger railroad station originally built by the Chautauqua Traction Company here still stands, used as a business.

Atlanta: The passenger station originally built by the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad here still stands, privately owned.

Attica: The passenger station originally built by the Erie here still stands, owned by Norfolk Southern. Also, the NYC's freight depot here remains, used as a business.

Aurelius: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYC here still stands, privately owned.

Aurora: The passenger station originally built by the Lehigh Valley Railroad here still stands, privately owned.

Ausable: The passenger station originally built by the D&H here still stands, used as a business.

Avoca: The passenger station originally built by the Lackawanna here still stands, privately owned.

Bainbridge: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the D&H here still stand.

Baldwin Place: The freight railroad station originally built by the NYC here still stands, derelict.

Ballston Spa: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the D&H here still stand.

Bardonia: The passenger station originally built by the New York & New Jersey Railroad here still stands.

Barker: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYC here still stands.

Batavia: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands, owned by CSX.

Bath: The freight station originally built by the Erie here still stands.

Bay Pond: Two passenger stations originally built by the NYC here still stand, both privately owned.

Beaver Falls: The passenger railroad station originally built by the Lowville & Beaver River Railroad here still stands, used as a business.

Beaver River: Originally built by the NYC.

Bedford Hills: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used by Metro-North.

Beekmanville: The passenger station originally built by the Clover Branch Railroad here still stands.

Belmont: The freight and passenger railroad stations originally built by the B&S here still stand, privately owned.

Bemus Point: The passenger station originally built by the Jamestown, Westfield & North Western Railroad here still stands, privately owned.

Berkshire: The passenger station originally built by the LV here still stands, used as a business.

Berlin: The passenger station originally built by the Rutland here still stands, vacant.

Big Flats: The passenger railroad station originally built by the DL&W here still stands, privately owned.

Big Moose: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYC here still stands.

Binghamton: The passenger station originally built by the Delaware & Hudson Railway here still stands, used as a business. Also, the DL&W's passenger station here also remains.

Bloomington: The passenger station originally built by the D&H here still stands.

Blytheborne: The passenger station originally built by the LV here still stands, privately owned.

Bolivar: The passenger railroad station originally built by the PS&N here still stands, used as a business.

Boonville: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the NYC here still stand, used as businesses.

Boston: The passenger station originally built by the Buffalo & Susquehanna Railroad here still stands, privately owned.

Bouckville: The passenger station originally built by the NYO&W here still stands, used as a business.

Brainard: The passenger railroad station originally built by the Rutland here still stands.

Breesport: The passenger station originally built by the LV here still stands, privately owned.

Brewster: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used by Metro-North.

Briarcliff Manor: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands.

Bridgewater: The passenger railroad station originally built by the DL&W here still stands, used as a business.

Broadalbin: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the Fonda, Johnstown & Gloversville Railroad here still stand.

Brockport: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the NYC here still stand.

Brocton: The passenger stations originally built by the Buffalo & Lake Erie Railroad and PRR here still stand.

Bronxville: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used by Metro-North.

Browsers: The passenger station originally built by the FJ&G here still stands, privately owned.

Buffalo: The passenger stations originally built by the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad; Erie Railroad; and NYC (three) here still stand. Also, freight depots built by the Erie (two), Wabash, and NYC remain.

Burdett: The passenger railroad station originally built by the LV here still stands, used as a metal recycling business.

Burns: The passenger station originally built by the Pittsburg, Shawmut & Northern Railroad here still stands, privately owned.

Buskirk: The passenger station originally built by the B&M here still stands.

Cadosia: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the NYO&W here still stand.

Callicoon: The passenger railroad station originally built by the Erie here still stands, owned by Norfolk Southern.

Cambridge: Two passenger railroad stations and a freight depot originally built by the D&H here still stands.

Camden: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used as a business.

Camillus: The freight station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used as a business.

Canandaigua: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the NYC here still stands.

Canaseraga: The passenger railroad station originally built by the PS&N here still stands, privately owned.

Canastota: The freight station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used as a business.

Canton: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used as a business.

Carlton: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYC here still stands, vacant.

Cassadaga: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands, privately owned.

Castleton: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands.

Castorland: The passenger and freight railroad stations originally built by the NYC here still stand.

Catskill: The passenger station originally built by the West Shore here still stands, used as a business.

Cayuga: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands.

Cazenovia: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the LV here still stands, used as businesses.

Cedarville: The passenger railroad station originally built by the DL&W here still stands, used as a business.

Centerville: The passenger station originally built by the B&S here still stands, used as a business.

Central Bridge: The freight station originally built by the D&H here still stands, vacant.

Central Square: The freight station originally built by the NYC here still stands, moved to Pond. Also, the NYO&W's passenger station here remains.

Central Valley: The passenger and freight railroad stations originally built by the Erie here still stand.

Ceres: The passenger station originally built by the PS&N here still stands, used as a business.

Chace: The passenger station originally built by the BR&P here still stands, privately owned.

Chadwicks: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands.

Champlain: The freight station originally built by the Rutland here still stands.

Chappaqua: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used by Metro-North.

Chase Mills: The freight station originally built by the Norwood & St. Lawrence Railroad here still stands.

Chateaugay: The passenger station originally built by the Rutland here still stands, vacant.

Chatham: Two passenger stations originally built by the Boston & Albany Railroad here still stand.

Chautauqua: The passenger railroad station originally built by the Chautauqua Traction Company here still stands, privately owned.

Chazy: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the D&H here still stand.

Chemung: The passenger station originally built by the Erie here still stands, privately owned.

Cheney's Point: The passenger station originally built by the Chautauqua Traction Company here still stands, privately owned.

Cherry Creek: The passenger railroad station originally built by the Erie here still stands, used as a business.

Cherry Valley: The passenger station originally built by the D&H here still stands.

Chester: The passenger station originally built by the Erie here still stands.

Chittenago: The passenger station originally built by the West Shore here still stands, used as a business.

Cincinnatus: The passenger station originally built by the DL&W here still stands, vacant.

Claverack: The passenger and freight railroad stations originally built by the B&A here still stand.

Clay: The freight railroad station originally built by the NYC here still stands.

Clifton Springs: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the NYC here still stand.

Clinton: The freight station originally built by the NYO&W here still stands.

Clyde: The passenger station originally built by the Rochester, Syracuse & Eastern Railroad here still stands, used as a business.

Cobleskill: The passenger and freight railroad stations originally built by the D&H here still stand.

Cohecton: The freight station originally built by the Erie here still stands.

Cohocton: The passenger stations originally built by the DL&W and Erie here still stand.

Cold Brook: The passenger station originally built by the U&D here still stands.

Cold Spring: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used as a business.

Congers: The passenger railroad station originally built by the West Shore here still stands, used as a business.

Cooks Falls: The passenger station originally built by the NYO&W here still stands, privately owned.

Cooperstown: The passenger station originally built by the Cooperstown & Charlotte Valley Railroad here still stands. Also, the D&H's freight and passenger stations here both remain. Lastly, two passenger depots built by the Southern New York Railway here remain.

Copake: The passenger station originally built by the Central New England Railway here still stands, used as a business.

Copake Falls: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used as a business.

Corbett: The passenger station originally built by the D&N here still stands, used as a business.

Corfu: The freight station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used as a business.

Corinth: The freight station originally built by the D&H here still stands.

Corning: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the DL&W here still stand, used as businesses.

Cortland: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the DL&W here still stand.

Cottekill: The passenger station originally built by the NYO&W here still stands.

Courtland: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the LV here still stand.

Cranberry Lake: The passenger railroad station originally built by the Grasse River Railroad here still stands.

Craryville: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands, privately owned.

Crestwood: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used by Metro-North.

Crittenden: The freight railroad station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used as a business.

Croghan: The passenger station originally built by the L&BR here still stands.

Croton Falls: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the NYC here still stand, used by Metro-North.

Croton North: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used by Metro-North.

Crown Point: The passenger station originally built by the D&H here still stands, derelict.

Crystal Lake: The passenger station originally built by the Buffalo & Susquehanna Railroad here still stands, privately owned.

Cuba: The freight station originally built by the PRR here still stands, used as a business.

Curriers: The freight railroad station originally built by the TV&C here still stands.

Cuyler: The passenger station originally built by the New York & Oswego Midland Railroad here still stands.

Dannemora: The passenger station originally built by the D&H here still stands.

Darien Center: The passenger station originally built by the Erie here still stands.

Davenport Center: The passenger railroad station originally built by the U&D here still stands, privately owned.

De Kalb Junction: The passenger and freight railroad stations originally built by the NYC here still stand the latter owned by CSX.

De Ruyter: The freight station originally built by the NYC here still stands, privately owned.

Deer River: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands.

Delhi: The freight railroad station originally built by the NYO&W here still stands, used as a business.

Dickinson Center: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands, vacant.

Dobbs Ferry: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used by Metro-North.

Douglas: The passenger railroad station originally built by the D&H here still stands.

Dover Plains: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the NYC here still stand.

Downsville: The passenger station originally built by the D&N here still stands, privately owned.

Dunkirk: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands.

Eagle Bay: The passenger railroad station originally built by the Raquette Lake Railway here still stands, vacant.

Eagle Bridge: The passenger station originally built by the B&M here still stands, vacant.

Earlville: The passenger stations originally built by the DL&W and NYO&W here still stand.

East Aurora: The passenger station originally built by the PRR here still stands, used as a business.

East Buskirk: The passenger station originally built by the B&M here still stands.

East Chester: The passenger railroad station originally built by the Lehigh & Hudson River Railway here still stands.

East Greenbush: The passenger and freight railroad stations originally built by the Albany Southern Railroad here still stand.

East Ithaca: The passenger station originally built by the LV here still stands, used as a business.

East Meredith: The passenger station originally built by the U&D here still stands, privately owned.

East Salamanca: The passenger station originally built by the BR&P here still stands, owned by shortline Buffalo & Pittsburgh.

Eaton: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYO&W here still stands, used as a business.

Eden Center: The passenger station originally built by the Erie here still stands, used as a business.

Edmeston: The passenger station originally built by the NYO&W here still stands, used as a business.

Edwards: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands.

Elba: The freight railroad station originally built by the West Shore Railroad here still stands, used as a business.

Elizaville: The passenger station originally built by the CNE here still stands.

Ellenburgh: The passenger station originally built by the Rutland here still stands, used as a business.

Ellenville: The passenger station originally built by the NYO&W here still stands, used as a business.

Ellicottville: The passenger station originally built by the BR&P here still stands.

Elma: The passenger railroad station originally built by the PRR here still stands, privately owned.

Elmira: The passenger station originally built by the Erie here still stands, vacant.

Elmsford: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used as a business.

Elnora: The freight station originally built by the D&H here still stands, used as a business.

Eritown: The passenger railroad station originally built by the West Shore here still stands, privately owned.

Ferndale: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYO&W here still stands, used as a business.

Fernwood: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands, privately owned.

Fleischmans: The freight station originally built by the U&D here still stands.

Flemingville: The passenger station originally built by the LV here still stands.

Fly Creek: The passenger railroad station originally built by the SNY here still stands, used as a business.

Forestport: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands.

Forrestville: The passenger station originally built by the Erie here still stands, vacant.

Fort Ann: The freight station originally built by the D&H here still stands, vacant.

Fort Edward: The passenger and freight railroad stations originally built by the D&H here still stand.

Fredonia: The freight station originally built by the NYC here still stands, vacant.

Freedom: The passenger station originally built by the BR&P here still stands, privately owned.

Frisbieville: The passenger station originally built by the Schoharie Valley Railroad here still stands, moved to Schoharie.

Fruitland: The passenger railroad station originally built by the Rochester & Sodus Bay Railroad here still stands, used as a business.

Fultonville: The freight station originally built by the West Shore here still stands, used as a business.

Garrison: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands.

Geneva: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the LV here still stand.

Georgetown: The passenger station originally built by the West Shore here still stands, privately owned.

Getzville: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYC here still stands, privately owned.

Geneva: The passenger station originally built by the LV here still stands, vacant.

Girarde: The passenger station originally built by the L&HR here still stands.

Glen Falls: The freight station originally built by the D&H here still stands, used as a business.

Glenfield: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used as a business.

Gorham: The passenger station originally built by the LV here still stands, vacant.

Goshen: The passenger station originally built by the Erie here still stands.

Gouverneur: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the NYC here still stand.

Gowanda: The passenger railroad station originally built by the Erie here still stands.

Granville: The passenger station originally built by the D&H here still stands, used as a business.

Greene: The passenger station originally built by the DL&W here still stands, used as a business.

Greenfield: Originally built by the D&H.

Greenwich: The freight station originally built by the Greenwich & Johnsonville Railroad here still stands.

Groton: The freight station originally built by the LV here still stands, used as a business.

Haine Falls: The passenger railroad station originally built by the Ulster & Delaware Railroad here still stands.

Halcottville: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the U&D here still stand.

Hall: The passenger station originally built by the PRR here still stands, used as a business.

Hamburg: The passenger station originally built by the B&S here still stands, privately owned. Also, two former Erie passenger depots here remain.

Hamilton: The passenger and freight railroad stations originally built by the NYO&W here still stand.

Hamlin: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYC here still stands, privately owned.

Hammond: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used as a business.

Hammondsport: The passenger station originally built by the Bath & Hammondsport Railroad here still stands.

Hardys: The passenger railroad station originally built by the BR&P here still stands, privately owned.

Harrison: The passenger station originally built by the New Haven here still stands, used by Metro-North.

Harrisville: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands.

Hartwick: The freight station originally built by the SNY here still stands, used as a business.

Hartwood: The passenger station originally built by the NYO&W here still stands, moved to Wolf Lake.

Hartsdale: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used by Metro-North.

Harvard: The passenger station originally built by the D&N here still stands, privately owned.

Hastings-on-Hudson: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used by Metro-North.

Haverstraw: The passenger station originally built by the West Shore here still stands, used as a business.

Hawthorne: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used by Metro-North.

Hemstreet Park: The passenger station originally built by the B&M here still stands.

Henderson: The passenger station originally built by the Southern New York Railway here still stands, privately owned.

Herkimer: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used as a business.

Heuvelton: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands.

High Falls: The passenger station originally built by the NYO&W here still stands.

Highland Falls: The passenger station originally built by the West Shore here still stands.

Highland Landing: The passenger railroad station originally built by the West Shore here still stands.

Highview: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYO&W here still stands, privately owned.

Holcomb: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used as a business.

Holland Patent: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands.

Holley: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the NYC here still stand.

Homer: The passenger and freight railroad stations originally built by the DL&W here still stand. Also, the Syracuse, Binghamton & New York Railroad's passenger station here remains.

Hoosick: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the B&M here still stand.

Hoosick Falls: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the B&M here still stand.

Hopewell Junction: The passenger railroad station originally built by the Central New England Railway here still stands.

Hornell: The passenger station originally built by the Erie here still stands, vacant.

Horseheads: The freight station originally built by the LV here still stands, used as a business. Also, the PRR's passenger depot here remains.

Howells: The freight station originally built by the Erie here still stands.

Hudson: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the NYC here still stand.

Hudson Falls: The passenger railroad station originally built by the D&H here still stands, used as a business.

Hunter: The passenger station originally built by the U&D here still stands, privately owned.

Hurleyville: The passenger station originally built by the NYO&W here still stands, used as a business.

Hyde Park: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands.

Ionia: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used as a business.

Irvington: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used by Metro-North.

Itaska: The passenger station originally built by the DL&W here still stands.

Ithaca: The passenger stations originally built by the DL&W and LV here still stand, used as businesses.

Jamestown: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the Erie here still stand. Also, the passenger station originally built by the JW&NW here remains, used as a business.

Jamesville: The passenger railroad station originally built by the DL&W here still stands, privately owned.

Java Center: The passenger station originally built by the TV&C here still stands, used as a business.

Jayville: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands.

Johnsonburg: The passenger station originally built by the TV&C here still stands, privately owned.

Johnsonville: The passenger railroad station originally built by the B&M here still stands.

Johnstown: The passenger station originally built by the FJ&G here still stands.

Jordan: The passenger station originally built by the RS&E here still stands, used as a business.

Jordanville: The passenger station originally built by the SNY here still stands, privately owned.

Katonah: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used by Metro-North.

Keeseville: The passenger station originally built by the Keeseville, Ausable Chasm & Lake Champlain Railroad here still stands, used as a business.

Kennedy: The passenger station originally built by the Erie here still stands.

Kensico Cemetery: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used by Metro-North.

Kent: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands, vacant.

Kildare: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands.

Kinderhook: The passenger railroad station originally built by the AS here still stands, used as a business.

Kings: The passenger railroad station originally built by the D&H here still stands.

Kyserike: The passenger station originally built by the NYO&W here still stands.

Lacona: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the NYC here still stand.

LaGrangeville: The passenger railroad station originally built by the CNE here still stands.

Lake Clear Junction: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used as a business.

Lake George: The passenger railroad station originally built by the D&H here still stands, used as a business.

Lake Katrine: The passenger station originally built by the West Shore here still stands.

Lake Mahopac: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the NYC here still stand.

Lake Placid: The passenger and freight railroad stations originally built by the D&H here still stand.

Le Roy: The passenger station originally built by the BR&P here still stands, used as a business.

Lebanon: The passenger station originally built by the West Shore here still stands.

Leonardsville: The passenger station originally built by the Unadilla Valley Railway here still stands, abandoned.

Liberty: The freight railroad station originally built by the NYO&W here still stands, used as a business.

Lighthouse Point: The passenger railroad station originally built by the Chautauqua Traction Company here still stands, used as a business.

Lily Dale: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands, privately owned.

Lincolndale: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used by Metro-North.

Lisbon: The passenger railroad station originally built by the Rutland here still stands.

Little Falls: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used as a business.

Little York: The passenger station originally built by the DL&W here still stands, privately owned.

Livingston Manor: The passenger station originally built by the NY&OM here still stands, used as a business. Also, the NYO&W's freight depot here remains, used as a business.

Locke: The freight railroad station originally built by the LV here still stands, used as a business.

Lockport: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands, privately owned.

Lowville: The passenger station originally built by the L&BR here still stands, vacant. Also, the passenger and freight stations built by the NYC here remain, both used as businesses.

Lycoming: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands, moved to Scriba, privately owned.

Lyon Falls: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used as a business.

Lyon Mountain: The passenger station originally built by the D&H here still stands.

Maldine: The passenger station originally built by the West Shore here still stands, used as a business.

Malone: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the Rutland here still stand.

Malone Junction: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used as a business.

Mamakating: The passenger station originally built by the NYO&W here still stands, used as a business.

Mamaroneck: The passenger railroad station originally built by the New Haven here still stands, used by Metro-North. Also, the NYW&B's passenger depot here remains, used as a business.

Manlius: The passenger railroad station originally built by the West Shore here still stands, used as a business.

Marathon: The passenger station originally built by the DL&W here still stands.

Martisco: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands.

Maryland: The passenger station originally built by the D&H here still stands, vacant.

Matteawan: The passenger railroad station originally built by the CNE here still stands.

Maybrook: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYNH&H Railroad here still stands, privately owned.

Mayville: The passenger station originally built by the PRR here still stands.

McConnellsville: The passenger station originally built by the LV here still stands, moved near Vienna, privately owned. Also, the NYC's freight and passenger stations here also remain.

McDonald: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYC here still stands, privately owned.

McGraw: The passenger station originally built by the DL&W here still stands, used as a business.

McKeever: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands, privately owned.

Mechanicstown: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYO&W here still stands, used as a business.

Mechanicville: The passenger railroad station originally built by the D&H here still stands, used as a business.

Medina: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the New York Central here still stand.

Mellenville: The passenger station originally built by the B&A here still stands.

Melrose: The passenger station originally built by the B&M here still stands.

Merriams: The passenger station originally built by the D&H here still stands.

Mexico: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used as a business.

Middle Granville: The passenger station originally built by the D&H here still stands.

Middleburgh: The passenger station originally built by the Middleburg & Schoharie Railroad here still stands, privately owned.

Middletown: The passenger station originally built by the Erie here still stands. Also, the Middletown & Unionville Railroad's passenger depot here remains. Lastly, the NYO&W's passenger depot here remains, used as a business.

Milford: The passenger station originally built by the D&H here still stands.

Millbrook: The freight station originally built by the CNE here still stands, used as a business.

Millerton: Two passenger stations and a freight depot originally built by the NYC here still stand.

Millwood: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYC here still stands, vacant.

Milo: The freight station originally built by the PRR here still stands.

Milton: The passenger station originally built by the West Shore here still stands.

Minetto: The passenger station originally built by the DL&W here still stands, privately owned. Also, the Syracuse, Lakeshore & Northern Railroad's passenger depot here remains, used as a business.

Model City: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used as a business.

Mohawk: The freight station originally built by the West Shore here still stands, used as a business.

Moira: The passenger station originally built by the Rutland here still stands, vacant.

Monroe: The passenger station originally built by the Erie here still stands, used as a business.

Monticello: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYO&W here still stands, used as a business.

Montour Falls: The freight railroad station originally built by the PRR here still stands, used as a business.

Mooers Forks: The passenger station originally built by the Rutland here still stands, used as a business.

Mooers Junction: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the D&H here still stand, the former restored in 2001 by Larry Marnes. Also, the Rutland's passenger depot here remains in poor condition.

Mount Ivy: The passenger station originally built by the Erie here still stands.

Mount Kisco: A passenger railroad station and two freight depots originally built by the NYC here still stand, used by Metro-North.

Mount Vernon: The passenger and freight railroad stations originally built by the NYC here still stand, used by Metro-North. Also, two of the New York, Westchester & Boston Railway's passenger stations here remains, both vacant.

Mountainville: The passenger station originally built by the Erie here still stands.

Munnsville: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYO&W here still stands, privately owned.

Napanoch: The passenger and freight railroad stations originally built by the NYO&W here still stand.

Naples: The freight station originally built by the LV here still stands, privately owned.

Nassau Lake: The passenger station originally built by the AS here still stands.

Nehasane: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands, vacant.

New City: The passenger station originally built by the Erie here still stands, used as a business.

New Hartford: The passenger station originally built by the DL&W here still stands, used as a business.

New Haven: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands, moved to Hickory Grove, privately owned.

New Lebanon: The passenger station originally built by the Rutland here still stands, vacant.

New Paltz: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used as a business.

New Rochelle: The passenger station originally built by the New Haven here still stands, used by Metro-North. Also, three passenger stations built by the NYW&B here remain.

New Woodstock: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands.

Newark: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the PRR here still stand.

Newark Valley: The passenger station originally built by the LV here still stands.

Newburgh: The passenger station originally built by the West Shore here still stands, vacant.

Nichols: The passenger station originally built by the DL&W here still stands.

North Chatham: The passenger station originally built by the AS here still stands.

North Collins: The freight station originally built by the Erie here still stands, used as a business.

North Creek: The passenger station originally built by the D&H here still stands.

North Tonawanda: The passenger stations originally built by the Erie and International Railway here still stand. Also, the NYC's freight depot here remains, used as a business.

Niagara Falls: The freight station originally built by the LV here still stands, now used as an Amtrak station stop.

Niskayuna: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands.

Norfolk: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the N&StL here still stand.

North Hoosick: The passenger station originally built by the B&M here still stands.

North Petersburg: The passenger station originally built by the Rutland here still stands.

Norwich: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the DL&W here still stand. Also, the NYO&W's freight station here remains.

Oakville: The passenger railroad station originally built by the SNY here still stands, moved to Milford.

Old Chatham: The passenger railroad station originally built by the Rutland here still stands.

Olean: The passenger station originally built by the PRR here still stands.

Oneida: The freight station originally built by the West Shore here still stands, used as a business.

Oneonta: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the D&H here still stand. Also, the passenger depot built by the SNY here remains, used as a business. Lastly, the Ulster & Delaware Railroad's passenger depot here remains, used as a business.

Ontario: The freight station originally built by the NYC here still stands.

Orangeburg: The passenger station originally built by the West Shore here still stands, used as a business.

Orchard Park: The passenger and freight railroad stations originally built by the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh Railroad here still stand.

Oriskany: The freight railroad station originally built by the NYC here still stands, vacant.

Oriskany Falls: The passenger station originally built by the NYO&W here still stands, privately owned.

Ossining: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used by Metro-North.

Oswego: The freight railroad station originally built by the DL&W here still stands, used as a business. Also, the NYC's freight and passenger stations here remain.

Otego: The passenger station originally built by the D&H here still stands, used as a business.

Otis Junction: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the Catskill Mountain Railroad here still stands.

Owasco Lake: The passenger railroad station originally built by the LV here still stands, privately owned.

Owego: The passenger railroad stations originally built by the Erie and LV here still stand, the former used as a business.

Oxford: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the DL&W here still stand.

Painted Post: The passenger station originally built by the DL&W here still stands.

Palenville: The passenger station originally built by the Catskill Mountain Railroad here still stands, privately owned.

Parker: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYO&W here still stands, used as a business.

Pawling: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used by Metro-North.

Pearl River: The passenger station originally built by the Erie here still stands, used as a business.

Peekskill: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYC here still stands, vacant.

Pelham: The passenger railroad station originally built by the New Haven here still stands, used by Metro-North.

Penn Yan: The freight station originally built by the PRR here still stands, used as a business.

Perkinsville: The passenger station originally built by the DL&W here still stands, privately owned.

Peru: The passenger station originally built by the D&H here still stands, vacant.

Phelps: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands.

Philipse Manor: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used by Metro-North.

Phillipsport: The passenger station originally built by the NYO&W here still stands, privately owned.

Phoenicia: The passenger station originally built by the U&D here still stands.

Piermont: The passenger station originally built by the Erie here still stands, privately owned.

Pine City: The passenger station originally built by the Erie here still stands, used as a business.

Pine Island: The passenger station originally built by the Erie here still stands, used as a business.

Pine Plains: Two freight stations originally built by the CNE here still stand.

Plattsburgh: The passenger station originally built by the D&H here still stands, used as a business.

Pleasant Valley: The passenger station originally built by the CNE here still stands.

Pleasantville: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used by Metro-North.

Port Byron: The passenger station originally built by the RS&E here still stands, used as a business.

Port Chester: The passenger station originally built by the New Haven here still stands, used by Metro-North. Also, the NYW&B's passenger station here remains.

Port Gibson: The passenger station originally built by the RS&E here still stands, used as a business.

Port Henry: The passenger station originally built by the D&H here still stands, used as a business.

Port Jervis: The passenger station originally built by the Erie here still stands.

Portlandville: The passenger station originally built by the D&H here still stands, privately owned.

Potsdam: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands.

Poughkeepsie: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used by Metro-North.

Prattsburg: The passenger station originally built by the Kanona & Prattsburg Railway here still stands, used as a business.

Prospect: Originally built by the NYC.

Ray Brook: The passenger station originally built by the D&H here still stands, vacant.

Red Creek: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used as a business.

Red Hook: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the CNE here still stand.

Relyeas: The passenger station originally built by the Central New England Railway here still stands, moved to Clintondale, privately owned.

Rheims: The passenger station originally built by the B&H here still stands, used as a business.

Rhinecliff: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used by Amtrak.

Rippleton: The passenger railroad station originally built by the West Shore here still stands, privately owned.

Riverside: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the D&H here still stand.

Rochester: The passenger station originally built by the LV here still stands, used as a restaurant. Also, the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh's (later B&O) former terminal remains preserved, home of the Nick Tahou Hots restaurant.

Rome: The passenger and two freight stations originally built by the NYC here still stand.

Rouses Point: The passenger station originally built by the D&H here still stands, owned and used by Amtrak. Also, the Rutland's passenger depot here remains.

Roxbury: The passenger station originally built by the U&D here still stands.

Rushford: The passenger station originally built by the PS&N here still stands, privately owned.

Sacandaga Park: The passenger railroad station originally built by the FJ&G here still stands, privately owned.

Saint Elmo: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYNH&H here still stands.

Salamanca: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the BR&P here still stand. Also, the Erie's passenger station here remains.

Salem: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the D&H here still stand.

Sandusky: The passenger station originally built by the B&S here still stands, privately owned.

Sanitaria Springs: The passenger station originally built by the D&H here still stands, vacant.

Santa Clara: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands.

Saranac Lake: The passenger railroad station originally built by the D&H here still stands.

Saratoga Springs: The passenger station originally built by the Boston & Maine Railroad here still stands, used as a business. Also, two freight depots and two passenger stations built by the D&H here remain. Lastly, the passenger station built by the Hudson Valley Railway here remains, used as a visitor's center.

Sardinia: The passenger railroad station originally built by the B&S here still stands, privately owned.

Saugerties: The freight station originally built by the West Shore here still stands, used as a business.

Savona: The passenger station originally built by the DL&W here still stands, moved to Ionia, used as a business.

Scarborough: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used by Metro-North.

Scarsdale: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used by Metro-North. Also, the NYW&B's passenger station here remains.

Schenevus: The passenger station originally built by the D&H here still stands, used as a business.

Schoharie: Two passenger stations and a freight depot originally built by the SV here still stands.

Schuyler Lake: The passenger railroad station originally built by the SNY here still stands, privately owned.

Schuylerville: The passenger railroad station originally built by the B&M here still stands.

Seneca Falls: The passenger and freight railroad stations originally built by the NYC here still stand.

Sennett: The passenger station originally built by the LV here still stands, used as a business.

Seward: The passenger station originally built by the D&H here still stands, privately owned.

Sharon: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands.

Sharon Springs: The passenger railroad station originally built by the D&H here still stands, privately owned.

Shenectady: The freight stations originally built by the D&H and NYC here still stand, used as businesses.

Shortsville: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the NYC here still stand.

Shushan: The passenger railroad station originally built by the D&H here still stands.

Sidney Center: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYO&W here still stands.

Silvernails: The passenger station originally built by the CNE here still stands.

Silver Springs: The passenger station originally built by the Erie here still stands, owned by NS.

Skaneateles Junction: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYC here still stands.

Sodus: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands.

South Columbia: The passenger station originally built by the DL&W here still stands, privately owned.

South Corinth: The passenger station originally built by the D&H here still stands, vacant.

South Dayton: The passenger railroad station originally built by the Erie here still stands.

South Edmeston: The passenger railroad station originally built by the UV here still stands, vacant.

South Fallsburgh: The passenger station originally built by the NYO&W here still stands.

South Gilboa: The passenger station originally built by the U&D here still stands, vacant.

South Granby: The passenger station originally built by the DL&W here still stands, privately owned.

South Kortright: The passenger station originally built by the U&D here still stands, privately owned.

Sprakers: The passenger railroad station originally built by the West Shore here still stands.

Spring Glen: The passenger station originally built by the NYO&W here still stands.

Spring Valley: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the Erie here still stand.

Springville: The passenger station originally built by the BR&P here still stands, used as a business.

St. Josephs: The passenger station originally built by the NYO&W here still stands.

Stafford: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands, privately owned.

Stamford: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the U&D here still stand.

Stanfordville: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the CNE here still stand.

State Bridge: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYO&W here still stands, moved to Verona, privately owned.

Stephentown: The passenger railroad station originally built by the Rutland here still stands, vacant.

Stockbridge: The passenger station originally built by the NYO&W here still stands, privately owned.

Stow: The passenger station originally built by the Chautauqua Traction Company here still stands.

Stuyvesant: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands, vacant.

Suffern: The passenger railroad station originally built by the Erie here still stands.

Sweet's Crossing: The passenger station originally built by the UV here still stands, privately owned.

Sylvan Beach: The passenger station originally built by the NYO&W here still stands, privately owned.

Syracuse: The passenger station originally built by the DL&W here still stands, used as a business. Also, the NYC's passenger station here remains, used as a business.

Tarrytown: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used by Metro-North.

Thendara: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the NYC here still stand.

Thornwood: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used by Metro-North.

Ticonderoga: The passenger station originally built by the D&H here still stands, used as a business.

Tilly Foster: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYC here still stands.

Tonawanda: Two passenger stations originally built by the NYC here still stand.

Tribes Hill: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the FJ&G here still stand.

Truxton: The passenger station originally built by the NY&OM here still stands.

Tuckahoe: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used by Metro-North.

Tully: The passenger station originally built by the DL&W here still stands, used as a business.

Tuxedo: The passenger station originally built by the Erie here still stands, used as a business.

Unadilla: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the D&H here still stand.

Union Springs: The passenger railroad station originally built by the LV here still stands.

Utica: The freight railroad station originally built by the DL&W here still stands. Also, the union station here built by the NYC, DL&W and O&W here remains, owned by CSX. Lastly, the NYO&W's freight depot here remains.

Valatie: The passenger station and two freight depots originally built by the AS here still stand.

Valhalla: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used by Metro-North.

Valley Falls: The freight railroad station originally built by the B&M here still stands.

Valley Stream: Originally built by the LIRR.

Venice Center: The passenger railroad station originally built by the New York & Oswego Midland Railroad here still stands.

Verbank: The freight station originally built by the CNE here still stands.

Vernon: The passenger station originally built by the NYO&W here still stands, used as a business.

Vestal: The passenger station originally built by the DL&W here still stands.

Victor: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used as a business.

Walden: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands.

Warsaw: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the BR&P here still stand.

Wawarsing: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYO&W here still stands.

Wayland: The passenger railroad station originally built by the DL&W here still stands, used as a business.

Wayville: The passenger railroad station originally built by the B&M here still stands.

Wellsville: The passenger station originally built by the Erie here still stands, vacant.

West Batavia: The freight station originally built by the NYC here still stands, privately owned.

West Cornell: The passenger railroad station originally built by the Erie here still stands, used as a business.

West Edmeston: The passenger railroad station originally built by the UV here still stands, used as a business.

West Falls: The passenger station originally built by the BR&P here still stands, privately owned.

West Haverstraw: The freight station originally built by the West Shore here still stands, owned by CSX.

West Oneonta: The passenger railroad station originally built by the SNY here still stands, used as a business.

Westfield: The passenger and freight railroad stations originally built by the NYC here still stand.

Waddington: The freight railroad station originally built by the N&StL here still stands.

Wallington: The passenger station originally built by the R&SB here still stands, used as a business.

Walton: Two passenger stations and a freight depot originally built by the NYO&W here still stand.

Warwick: The passenger railroad station originally built by the L&HR here still stands, used as a business.

Washington Mills: The passenger railroad station originally built by the DL&W here still stands.

Waterloo: The freight station originally built by the NYC here still stands.

Watkins Glen: The freight station originally built by the NYC here still stands, vacant. Also, the PRR's passenger station here remains, used as a restaurant.

Wedgewood: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYC here still stands, privately owned.

Weedsport: The passenger railroad station originally built by the RS&E here still stands, used as a business.

West Chazy: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the D&H here still stand.

West Point: The passenger and freight stations originally built by the West Shore here still stand.

Westport: The passenger railroad station originally built by the D&H here still stands, used as a business.

Westdale: The freight railroad station originally built by the NYC here still stands.

Wheeler: The passenger station originally built by the K&P here still stands, privately owned.

Whitehall: The freight station originally built by the D&H here still stands, used as a business.

Whitesboro: The freight railroad station originally built by the NYC here still stands.

Whitney Point: The passenger railroad station originally built by the DL&W here still stands, used as a business.

Williamson: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands, used as a business. Also, two of the R&SB's passenger depots here remain.

Williamsville: The passenger station originally built by the LV here still stands.

Willsboro: The passenger railroad station originally built by the D&H here still stands, owned by Canadian Pacific.

Wilson: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYC here still stands.

Windsor: The passenger station originally built by the D&H here still stands.

Winthrop: The freight station originally built by the Rutland here still stands, privately owned.

Wolcott: The passenger station originally built by the NYC here still stands.

Woodard: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYC here still stands.

Woodgate: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYC here still stands.

Woodridge: The passenger station originally built by the NYO&W here still stands, used as a business.

Wurtsboro: The passenger station originally built by the NYO&W here still stands, privately owned.

Yonkers: Three passenger railroad stations originally built by the NYC here still stand, two of which are used by Metro-North. Also, two stations built by the Park Hill Incline here remain.

Yorktown Heights: The passenger railroad station originally built by the NYC here still stands, vacant.

Youngstown: The passenger railroad station originally built by the Lewiston & Youngstown Frontier Railway here still stands, vacant.

Thanks to Kevin Dunaske and Gary Brandstetter for help with the information on this page.